Owning a Necessity

Current Events
—By Arthur Brisbane—

ARE YOU "in the stock market" these days? If so, you had another exciting time yesterday. Wall Street sold and bought about two and a half million shares and, "Oh, joy; Oh, rapture!" You could borrow at 3 per cent. "call money" with which to do your speculating.

ARE YOU "out of the stock market?" You are missing excitement just now. But later you may miss a most terrific financial headache. There are worse things than being out of the stock market—for the man that likes peace of mind.

LADY ASTOR, charming American born woman—sitting in Britain's Parliament, says the United States will enter the League of Nations and "soon." She is mistaken. The United States will not enter the League of Nations AT ALL.

THE SAME charming young woman says she prefers "foreign wars to class conflict." A sound choice, for the wife of a man worth many millions. Class conflict interferes sometimes with fortunes and comfort at home—look at Russia. Foreign wars only burn up the little people.

Ancient kings, even wiser than Lady Astor, started foreign wars to keep down unrest and "class conflict" within their own borders.

"MEMBERS OF the Rockefeller family plan large model tenements for working men in New York city, the rents to be low."

That is useful work, but not in the regular philanthropic line of John D. Rockefeller. Mr. Rockefeller believes in working not to cure temporary evils, but to eliminate the possibility of evil in the future. John D., junior, for instance, says that his father is interested not so much in curing one man or a thousand men of yellow fever or malaria, but rather in ridding the earth and freeing all men of malaria and yellow fever for all time to come.

SOME financial colossus of the future, whose income would enable him to buy up all the Rockefellers once every year, will perhaps undertake to wipe out poverty, for all time, as the Rockefellers of today seek to wipe out the worst diseases.

JUST AS surely as diphtheria, small pox and typhoid fever have been conquered by vaccination, just so surely will human intelligence and justice abolish poverty and all the evils—hatred, anxiety, superstition, drunkenness and brutality, born of poverty.

ARE YOU amazed at the suggestion that the future will develop men richer than Rockefeller? Don't be. Industrial feudalism, with its dollar armies, is only starting. The Alexanders, Caesars and Napoleons of money are still to come.

OWNERSHIP OF a public necessity in this nation is worth while, if you are a good manager. Mr. Traxx, head accountant of the big telephone company, says his concern has built up a reserve of about $100,000,000. That's just in case of emergencies.

IT WOULD be interesting to know how much real property Judge Gary, the wonderfully careful financial housekeeper of the big steel company, has stored up for that corporation.

Not even Judge Gary himself could guess the future value of the vast coal lands, ore lands, and other properties accumulated for stockholders.

REAL ESTATE pays if you buy the right kind at the right time. The edge of the North River on Manhattan Island was worth nothing once, just a muddy bank over which Indians dragged their canoes. Years ago one of the Dutch Rhinelanders got hold of a little piece when it was still cheap and held it. His heirs sold it yesterday to the Eastern Steamship Company for $1,000,000. There are in this

Dr. George H. Wright of Harvard Dental School and chairman of the committee of five, announced that next Autumn he hoped to compile lists of approved and disapproved rooming and apartment

BOYS SET FIRE TO ESCAPE STUDIES

A fire of incendiary origin, believed to have been set by boys who didn't want to go to school, was discovered in the basement of the Maplewood school in Malden today.

The blaze, which was started in a bale of waste paper, was extinguished by the janitor, L. Napoleon King, who notified the police and fire departments.

An investigation revealed that a rear window had been forced and also that ink had been spilled on a teacher's desk on the second floor. The school session had not started when the fire was discovered.

A short time later the fire department was called for a small blaze in the new building under construction in the rear of the Lincoln School on Cross street, Malden. This was started by the explosion of a plumber's torch and was extinguished without damage.

DESTROYER DISABLED BY ITS OWN TORPEDO

Washington, Nov. 13.—The destroyer Paul Hamilton has been forced to return to San Diego as a result of damages received during torpedo practice off that base.

A torpedo fired during the practice was thrown off its course, "probably as the result of an explosion of the air flask," a report to the Navy Department said, and struck the destroyer, straining several of her side plates.

Five Armed Men Raid Chelsea House, Bind Pair and Get Away With Truckload

Five young men in a sedan, drove boldly into the yard of Philipo Ciaravolo at No. 247 Webster avenue, Chelsea at 7:30 last today.

They told James Grasso they had business with Ciaravolo, his brother-in-law.

When Ciaravolo appeared the five drew guns, and while two covered the householder and his brother-in-law the others bound them and deposited them in the cellar, after which they cut the telephone wires.

Then, breaking into the Ciaravolo garage, the five men drove out an auto truck, registered in the name of Josephine Ciaravolo, and loaded it with 645 gallons of alcohol, valued at $3,500, taken from the cellar.

When the truck was loaded two of the men mounted to the seat and it rolled out of the yard and headed for the Newburyport turnpike, followed by the sedan.

Ciaravolo's wife liberated the two bound men, and he ran to the home of a neighbor, where he telephoned the police.

Officers Garrity and Lynch in the police automobile hurried to Ciaravolo's house and started an investigation.

According to Ciaravolo and his brother-in-law, three of the hijackers wore light topcoats, but they were able to give only vague descriptions of the men. They declared they were threatened with death if they made any outcry.

GLOVED BURGLAR GETS $8,000 MORE JEWELS

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Raymond Hill, county finger print expert, said today the burglar who ransacked the home of Marcelis Parsons in Rye and got jewels valued at $8,000 was undoubtedly the person who, in the last three years, has stolen gems worth $150,000 from Westchester County families. He always wears gloves, Mr. Hill said he believed the stolen jewelry was sent abroad and sold.

ESCAPE OF HARTMAN FOILED

"Society Bellhop" and Two Other Prisoners Caught in Hiding at Deer Island

After spending the night in a ventilator in the House of Correction on Deer Island, Otto Hartman, ex-Chicago bus-boy and "society bellhop," was foiled when he crept from his hiding place and attempted to escape to the mainland today.

He is in his third day of a sentence of eighteen months for passing bad checks.

With two other prisoners, all mysteriously supplied with food and water, Hartman slumbered into the vacuous late yesterday afternoon. Absence missed at the check-up last night and a wide search started. Not until this morning, however, was the escapture of Hartman effected.

How he not been detected, the authorities say, he planned to make the mainland by boat with his companions.

FOOLED NEWPORT.

Hartman for several weeks enjoyed the favor of Newport society when he posed as a Harvard Tennis champion working as bellhop in a hotel. For the fun of it, he had also successfully posed in New York as the son of Lord and Lady Herbert of London. He is serving 18 months for three forgeries in Boston.

The youthful prisoner had been assigned to light work about the institution but today found him locked alone in a cell and awaiting trial before the Board of Officers. The police have him listed as a drug addict and a "pathological liar."

ONCE TRIED SUICIDE.

When Hartman was confined in the Newport jail after his exposure there, he made an attempt to commit suicide by hanging. The following day he was fined $15 and costs and ordered out of town.

Arraigned before Judge Devlin today in the police court here, he pleaded guilty and apparently cheerfully at ease, Hartman said he was James H. Herbert and he expressed to give his impression that he was a son of Lord and Lady Herbert. In fact, with feigned reluctance, he "admitted it" when questioned point blank by Judge Lourie.

In the lower courts Hartman was sentenced to two and a half years but he appealed and Judge Ellis Hislop in the Superior Court reduced the sentence to eighteen months.

WIDESPREAD DROUGHT IS WORRYING FARMERS

Washington, Nov. 13.—The widespread drought, which has prevailed over nearly all of the eastern half of the country for more than a month continues to worry farmers and owners of forest lands.

New England reports rain badly needed and many forest fires burning.

From Virginia southward to Florida rain is needed, but south Florida is "soaked."

WOMAN PASTOR DRIVEN OUT BY KLAN GOSSIP

Belton, Nov. 13.—A whispering campaign in which gossips connected her with the Ku Klux Klan is responsible for the resignation of the Rev. Miss Elizabeth Campbell, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Since last Sunday, when the young woman preacher announced from her pulpit that she was about to leave her pastorate there has been much speculation about the cause of her action. Today she reluctantly told her reasons.

"Continual gossip regarding myself," she said.

A few weeks ago the Rev. Miss Campbell rented a barn to Klan officials and they held a meeting there. Since then the town has buzzed with rumors that the woman preacher is a member of the Klan. This she denies.

Telling how the rumors have interfered with her church work, she said:

"It reached the point where I could not call upon any of my congregation without being questioned regarding the klan. I have been told that I was a paid speaker for the klan. Such talk is absurd. It continued until I could not stand it any longer as a minister."

Church officials decline to discuss her resignation.

She became pastor of the Baptist Church three years ago and will continue to live in this town, filling pulpits in nearby towns as her services may be required.

DEMOCRAT PROTEST RAISED

Legality of Governor's Appointment of Lodge's Successor Is Questioned

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee and manager of President Coolidge's campaign, today was named by Governor Cox to take the seat in the United States Senate made vacant by the death of Henry Cabot Lodge.

The new Senator will hold office until November, 1926, when the next biennial election will be held.

Members of the Democratic party in Massachusetts have questioned the constitutionality of the appointment and the question may be decided in the courts.

Senator Butler's commission was signed at noon in the presence of Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook and a group of newspapermen.

It will be sent to the president pro tem of the Senate at Washington and the appointee will then immediately qualify, making him senior Senator from Massachusetts because Senator-elect Gillett will not qualify until the next Senate convenes on December 1.

CALLS IT "SURPRISE."

No statement was issued by Governor Cox when he signed Butler's commission. That he would appoint the Republican National Committee chairman was expected.

The Governor smiled when he called the newspapermen into the executive office and notified them of his act. "Gentlemen, I have a little surprise for you," he said. He then announced the appointment and put his signature on the papers.

The entrance of William M. Butler into the Senate marks his first open participations in the political and administrative affairs of the nation. For many years he has been a powerful force in Republican politics, but he has always wished to keep his activities invisible. To his guidance and activities many ascribe President Coolidge's success in state and national politics.

He has been christened in Washington the "Colonel House-Mark Hanna-Harry Daugherty" of the Coolidge administration.

COACHED BY CRANE.

William M. Butler was born in New Bedford on January 29, 1861, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D.

DEER MYSTERY SOLVED IN COURT

New Bedford, Nov. 13.—Joseph Laird claimed he found a deer dead in the woods. A Carver game warden demonstrated in Wareham Court today that he must have found at least three. Expert deer hunters testified that a large deer head, spreading antlers, two forequarters of unequal size and two forelegs wouldn't make fewer animals. Laird was fined $25 for the killings.

CITY SHOCKED BY EXPOSE OF WILD NIGHT PARTIES HELD IN UNSUPERVISED APARTMENT HOUSES

houses would be made available at all colleges.

Acting Commissioner of Police Michael H. Crowley invited anyone possessing specific of immorality, excessive drinking and gambling, referred to in the report, to submit it to the police. He promised prompt action. Crowley said he did not question the sincerity of the committee making the report, but emphasized the helplessness of the police to interfere in private houses unless some evidence of immorality were produced or a crime were charged.

TO HIT POCKETBOOKS.

Another development resulting from the startling report was the announcement that Bishop Slattery of the Episcopal diocese had prevailed upon the trustees of the church of the Messiah on Gains borough street to surrender the church to the Boston diocese for the purpose of making it the headquarters of a new regime in the picturesque student quarter.

"We are convinced," Dr. Wright of the Committee of Five said, "that preaching and moralizing have accomplished nothing where rooming houses are concerned and now we intend to hit the pocketbooks of owners of rooming houses."

"We hope by the efforts of a number of investigators to be able to compile lists of approved rooming and apartment houses and of those which are questionable. A permanent committee will be established to determine which houses are decent and respectable and students will not be allowed, we hope, to live in others. We are sure that they will not want to, whether such restrictions are imposed or not.

"The trouble has been that young people have come to our colleges imbued with high ideals, but unfortunately in many cases have been forced into environments which caused them to discard their ideals. This will be remedied by lists of approved rooming houses."

Members of proposed permanent committee will devote much attention to a study of conditions in various rooming houses, and the lists will be based upon their reports.

STIRRED BY REPORT.

Student dwellers in unsupervised rooming houses and kitchenette apartments, especially in the Back Bay, were apprehensive as a result of the report of the Committee on Student Living Conditions.

They are especially alarmed over the announcement in the report that, given a week, the committee is prepared to present house numbers and to produce witnesses of immorality and loose moral conditions throughout the Back Bay student area sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical.

The report, which proved a terrific shock both to tenants of certain rooming houses and students alike, charges gambling, excessive drinking and vile moral condition prevail.

It is the first step in a clean-up campaign by the committee and is a direct result of a "suicide party" in a Newbury street apartment in March, 1922, when Pauline Virginia Clark, young three-year-old adventuress and divorcee, ended her life by taking poison in the presence of her gay guests.

TO CORRECT EVILS.

A committee of five was appointed at a meeting in the Boston Public Library at which the report was read, to begin correcting the startling state of affairs revealed.

"There is almost everything to help a student go wrong and almost nothing to hinder him or her from going wrong," the report declares.

"It is know that there are groups of girl students and groups of men students living alone in apartments without any supervision and that at parties including women liquor and gambling go on frequently."

The report further charges that in some of the houses "one sex brings in those of the opposite sex for immoral purposes."

Among the institutions represented at the Public Library meeting were several departments of Harvard University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston University, Northeastern University, Tufts College and Emerson College of Oratory. There was a faculty member and a student representative from each institution.

Far more sensational was the report than the charges which brought down wrath and indignation upon the head of Obert Sletten, Boston lawyer and former Norwegian consul here, who, as a result of the Pauline Clark "suicide party" made an investigation and announced that he would ask the Norwegian government to cease sending students to Boston institutions of learning until conditions here had been cleaned up. Sletten, broken in mind and career, disappeared in March, 1923.

His removal from his post had been brought about by powerful enemies he made when he exposed conditions.

However, Pauline Clark's suicide and the "breaking" of Obert Sletten have borne fruit in the campaign just launched.

Pauline Clark, girl, who was the divorced wife of a young naval officer, lived in luxury and without apparent means of support. Her apartment was a rendezvous for college students of wealth, and other wealthy men were her intimates. Amoid her admirers was a young Norwegian chemistry senior at Tech, Otto Haldor Larsen, sent to this country to study by his government.

On the night of the tragic party, Miss Clark unexpectedly announced her engagement to Bayard Wharton of Philadelphia, wealthy student at Harvard, who was a member of the party. There was much drinking and revelry in Pauline Clark's apartment that night.

Suddenly the girl produced a bottle of poison, furnished to her at her own request, it later developed, by Larsen. She swallowed some of the liquid and the party broke up. The members scattered and when the police found the girl she was dead.

Larsen disappeared and on the following Sunday morning he was found dead in the Fenway. The poison vial which he had snatched from the hand of the girl after she had drunk from it, was found in his hand.

Scores of reputations were threatened in the expose which followed the double suicide. Sletten at once began the investigation which cost him his career. Other agencies began working quietly and now, months after the affair had been virtually forgotten, comes this report from a specially-appointed body which has completed long investigation and inquiry and finds conditions worse today than they were at the time of the "suicide party."

DR. GARDNER'S VIEW.

The Reverend W. E. Gardner, widely known Episcopal clergyman, with numerous social connections in Boston, is preparing a committee, to include many of the city's most noted men and women, for the purpose of organizing perrsation to compete with the night life.

Doctor Gardner, who has been in close association with "youth movements" here and abroad has been chosen to take over the new work which originated in the brain of Bishop Slattery several years ago.

"A curious condition exists in the Back Bay student quarter," says Doctor Gardner.

"Hundreds of young men have been poured into this section of the city, with the establishment of the various medical and dental schools here.

"The idea has been an historic one—namely that no long as the young man did his work in the laboratory and classroom, his outside activities were his own.

"Both students and college heads have concluded that something more is needed. Young men and women, thrown together by living conditions, have gotten hold of a wrong standard. We mean to create a new standard. We're out to round up the boys and girls—no matter whether they're radical, or Buddhists or free-thinkers or anything else!

"Their opinions a.e their own. We mean simply to create the proper social contact and let the other things take care of themselves. The colleges have come to the realization that a four-square man comes before the student.

"We know that these boys and girls are not bad—merely the body of one of the greatest 'youth movements' the world has ever seen. They go down through history in waves and this is the greatest one.

"In Europe the movement has become crystallized in more constructive efforts. The same may be done here."

Student Life as It Is Seen by Investigators

HERE are some of the conditions existing among students at men's and women's colleges in Boston, according to the report of the Student Intercollegiate Committee on Student Living Conditions, read and approved by representative faculty members and students:

"Immorality in unsupervised kitchenette apartments and rooming houses, especially in Back Bay district.

"Night and day 'visiting' between rooms by youths and girls.

"Accosting of girl students by youths in so-called 'respectable' streets.

"Excessive drinking, gambling and immorality at parties of men and women students.

"Generous consumption of liquor by men and women at dances of college clubs and organizations."

The committee declares itself prepared to produce house numbers and specific instances of the vice it has disclosed.

TEXT OF INVESTIGATORS' REPORT ON HUB STUDENTS

The report of college investigators on student living conditions in Boston follows:

"To the officials of the colleges and institutions of learning concerned in the situation herein set forth we, a group of students from said colleges and institutions of learning, respectfully submit the following report and possible remedies which we sincerely believe will be for the advantage and betterment of a great number of students. The good name of the institutions which we and they attend, and the good names of the city of Boston, which is one of, if not the greatest of, student centers in the world.

"It is a well-known fact among the student body of the present time that the living conditions in the students' area of Back Bay are far from what they should be; that the living conditions are far from what the faculties of the schools and the parents of the students would like to have them if they were aware of the conditions.

"It is a common knowledge among the student body that temptations which are a detriment to the health, character and efficient pursuit of studies are almost everywhere present among the students living in the area.

"We freely admit that in many respects the students themselves are to blame for the existing conditions, but we also feel that there is very little, if any, restraint placed upon the students by some of the institutions which they attend.

LACK PROTECTION.

"In fact, it seems to be a question whether the faculties of some of the schools have any knowledge of the life and living conditions of many of the students outside of the time they actually spend at the institution to which they belong.

"We believe that the highest aim of an education is not merely an efficient training in a chosen career, but also the perfecting of character which makes for self-respect, good citizenship and wholesome homes in later life.

"In some of the rooming houses young men and young women are, through force of circumstances, living with less protection from moral temptation than is desirable. It is known that in some places where men and women students live in the same house there is very lax supervision and that the frequenting of one another's rooms, both during the day and night, is not at all unheard of.

"It is known that in some of the houses one sex brings in those of the opposite sex for immoral purposes and gee by with it.

"It is known that between the houses it is not infrequently the case that both men and women dress and undress without pulling down the shades.

"It is maintained by some girl students that they cannot pass through certain of our streets without being accosted by men.

MUCH EVIDENCE.

"It is a fact that some of the dances held by some of the clubs and organizations of the colleges have been noticeable by the very considerable amount of drinking that has gone on by both men and women. Drinking and the carrying of liquor to social functions is evidently considered a necessary part of the occasion with a great many of the students. Under the warming and exciting stimulus of liquor many of the students, both men and women, conduct themselves in a manner which is contrary to their own best ideals.

"A large number of students come to Boston for the first time to attend school. They room wherever they can find a place. They know no one. No one knows them. So long as they get passing marks in their school work no one apparently cares where they are, or what their environment is outside of school.

"If it is necessary to present home numbers and to produce witnesses of immorality and loose moral conditions throughout the Back Bay student area, give us a week and we can produce enough to satisfy the most doubting persons.

"In effect it to say for the present that at previous meetings every one of the students attending has quickly and readily conceded that there is a very serious problem, and that these conditions do exist; that there is almost everything to help a student go wrong and almost nothing to hinder him or her from going wrong.

"We are convinced that the rooming house problem is a very serious one; that the environment of the rooming house area is a very serious problem; that the frequency of the pocket flask is of no real benefit to the student nor to the school from which he comes; that dangers of disease are great; that there is need of closer co-operation between the student and school in regard to living conditions.

"We offer for your consideration the following methods of promoting student welfare and better college spirit:

"We believe that it would be of benefit to the school, the student, and the students' parents, if each school would provide a list of approved rooming houses in which only students of one sex should live; that each school should have personal knowledge of the cleanliness of these rooming houses and the characters of the landladies who run them. Furthermore, we believe that each school should insist that the students of the underclasses, at least, should live either in an approved rooming house or with parents or relatives.

"We believe that there should be a close co-operation between the fraternities and the school authorities; that all undergraduate social affairs should be attended by suitable representatives from the faculty.

NEED DIRECTORS.

"We believe that it would be a credit to our schools if liquor were forbidden and kept out of all undergraduate affairs of a social nature. If the faculty believe a change in the 18th Amendment should be made, let them, like President Butler, of Columbia, come out and say so; but so long as it is a part of our Constitution, we believe that undergraduates should be encouraged from breaking the law at the social affairs which are held under organizations which are a part of our educational life.

"We believe that every school should work toward the obtaining of its own dormitories, either leased or constructed, where students life and activities may receive the protection and aid of the institution to which the students belong.

"We are aware that in some schools a student government organization has been of great benefit to both students and faculty. Alma Mater, and believe that it should at least be given a trial in all schools.

"We believe that a Personal Director in schools would be quite as much an asset as a Personal Director in factories. A Personal Director would be one whose business it was to do everything possible for the students' welfare, especially looking after new students during their first year. He should be a man of character, and a liking for young people.

"We believe that mass meetings should be held for the undergraduates of the first two years anyway, at which they be given an opportunity to get some college spirit, and to meet the faculty. At these meetings they should not simply be entertained, but should have one short address by an excellent man and speaker, bringing to their attention the serious side of college life, and their responsibilities to themselves, their families, their school and their chosen profession. In other words, have it impressed upon them that character is primarily essential.

"We believe that suitable lectures on sex questions and illustrated lectures on diseases should be given by competent physicians or other qualified persons to all students very shortly after they enter college.

POLICE LENIENT.

"We believe that this section of Boston could be materially improved if the college authorities should unite in a request to the police to be more strict in regard to street walkers, mashers, and drunkenness. We understand that the police are often very lenient with students and appreciate it, but would it not really help the student more if he were perhaps taken to the station and reported to his school authorities? So long as others do not take our mistakes seriously, it is quite certain we will nbt take them seriously ourselves.

"We believe a joint committee of eleven members consisting both of school officials and students should be selected at this meeting to take some definite action on these matters and report their findings and recommendations to all the schools concerned.

"It is with the deepest appreciation of your presence at this meeting that we respectfully submit these things for your consideration.

TREASURERS' CLUB BENEFIT TOMORROW

The first annual benefit performance by the Theatre Treasurers' Club of New England will be given at the Colonial Theatre tomorrow afternoon, at which nearly all the principal players of attractions now at the local playhouses will appear. The Treasurers' Club is made up of the ticket sellers and box office men at the Boston theatres, and this monster entertainment is designed to raise funds for a sick and death benefit.

Among the artists who will appear are Fred Stone, William Hodge, Julia Arthur, Edith Day, Julia Sanderson, Gertrude Lawrence, Beatrice Lillie, Viola Frayne, Otto Kruger.

HITS BIGOTRY AT SESSION OF FRATERNITIES

No One Knows if His Beliefs Are Right, Members of Many Orders Told

Syracuse, Nov. 12.—"Perhaps I have heard that it is a terrible thing to be a member of the Knights of Columbus. Perhaps you have heard that it is a terrible thing to be a Mason. Perhaps we both are right. But the facts remain that no one knows whether he is right in his beliefs, and the sooner we get rid of these ideas the better the world will be."

With this challenge to bigotry, by Supreme Court Justice J. L. Cheney ringing in their ears, more than 2,000 members of Syracuse fraternal organizations today go about their task with a keener understanding of each other and each other's problems.

Justice Cheney addressed a gathering of Masons, Knights of Columbus, Elks, Moose and Eagles at the Knights of Columbus Headquarters.

Dr. F. W. Betts, pastor of the First Universalist Church, brought the crowd to its feet cheering as he arraigned those who persist in the belief there is a quarrel between Knights of Columbus and Masons.

LABOR PREMIER OF VICTORIA OUT OF OFFICE

Melbourne, Victoria, Nov. 13.—The labor premier of Victoria, G. M. Prendergast, resigned office today as a result of the defeat of his Government in the Parliament on a no confidence vote and the refusal of the Governor, the Earl of Stradbroke, to accede to his request for Parliamentary dissolution. Parliament adjourned until Nov. 18.

The Labor Ministry took office last July.

SCHOOL TEACHER THRILLED BY FIGHT FOR ALDERMANIC SEAT

TELLS WHY SHE IS HER CITY'S FIRST WOMAN TO ENTER POLITICS

"Whenever woman enters a field she brings an inspirational influence."

"Science, civics and citizenship are a great preparation for politics."

"I entered the field a full-fledged politician, ready to promote the cause of good government."

"The person who can train good citizens can make good laws."

EAGER TO MAKE GOOD LAWS

"One Is How to Promise Sure to Keep Pledge," Says Miss Cohen of Chelsea

For a number of years she has devoted her energies to making educated citizens out of youth.

Now she wants to make laws.

Miss Cecile Cohen, attractive school teacher of Chelsea, is in the race for alderman-at-large and she believes she is thoroughly qualified to act as such in view of the years she has devoted to teaching science, civics and citizenship.

Nor is it her sex alone which makes her an unique figure in politics. She just won't make any election promises—save one which is that she will always stand for social progress and humanitarian reform.

MAKES FEW PROMISES.

No even the bootleggers who, it is whispered, do manage to do a lot of business in Chelsea now and then, evoke from her a promise of a broadcast campaign to drive them out.

"The person who is slow to promise is sure to keep his promise," she quoted when she was asked as to her views on illicit rum-vendors.

Re candidacy, Miss Cohen styled as "the most thrilling experience of my life."

"As a school teacher," she said, "I intend to keep my profession up to the minute while carrying on my campaign. But I consider my entrance into politics a transition."

Miss Cohen is a handsome woman equipped with admirable poise. She says that there is much room for improvement of conditions in her city and while she refuses to make personal accusations or attacks, she agrees that a higher type of public official is needed there.

"Wherever woman enters a field," she said, "she brings an inspirational influence. It is admitted by men in business that the presence of women brings higher ideals. Certainly government needs their services."

Miss Cohen has adopted a generous attitude towards her opponents in the race. She is conducting a series of rallies in support of her candidacy in Prattville Hall and opposing candidates have been invited to speak there, too.

Campaigning holds no terrors for this experienced young woman. She has done considerable speaking for various causes and says she feels no diffidence about advocating her own election.

"While it is true that I am the first woman to run for office in Chelsea," said she, "I do not feel that this will prejudice the voters against me.

"I enter the field a full-fledged politician, knowing that the cause for good government is an ideal that can readily be put into practice providing that there are intelligent constituents to promote it."

Chelsea is a non-partisan city and accordingly Miss Cohen has been spared the necessity of announcing her own political affiliations. However, her quotation about being slow to make promises smacks somewhat of partiality to President Coolidge.

She was asked about this, but beyond reminding her questioner that Chelsea is non-partisan, she would not say anything further as to her views on national politics.

RUM-RUNNERS POLITE; REPAIR BROKEN FENCE

Rum-runners of the North Shore are becoming bolder with the approach of the Christmas season and the anticipated increased demand. They are now making landings by daylight.

One such landing reported today took place near Rowe's Field, Salem Harbor. A fast motorboat entered the harbor by daylight and its load was quickly transferred to two touring cars which sped away.

That the rough-neck element among the rum-runners is giving place to the more gentlemanly type was indicated by the fact that when one of the touring cars backed into a fence about a piece of privately owned property, the driver stopped, got out and apologized to the owner. He said he would right the damage and not long after he had driven off a carpenter appeared and made repairs.

Asks Phone Raise, Has Reserve of $100,000,000

New York, Nov. 13 (I.N.S.)—H. A. Prax, chief accountant for the New York Telephone Company, admitted under cross-examination at a hearing on application for a 10 per cent. rate increase that the corporation had built up a reserve of nearly $100,000,000 out of its current rates to subscribers.

FORGOT WEDDING PERMIT UNTIL LAST MINUTE

For a few worried hours today it looked as if Roy Allen Randall, confectioner of No. 162 Eastside road, Newton, would have to postpone his wedding and chase back to their homes the many guests he had invited. For Randall, overlooking the five-day clause, delayed until today to obtain the license for the wedding of himself and Velma Ida Virgin of No. 51 Norway street, Boston. District Clerk Sprague was his helper, however, and the ceremony went on in peace.

M'NEIL IS FINED FOR PUNCHING CITY CLERK

John McNeil, chairman of the registrars of voters of Everett, was fined $5 by Judge Charles M. Bruce in Malden District Court today on a charge of assault on Frank Pettengill, city clerk of Everett.

McNeil pleaded not guilty, but when Judge Bruce had heard testimony of Miss Clara J. Rudd and Miss Mary Ash, clerks who were present in Pettengill's office when the alleged assault occurred, he announced a finding of guilty.

Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Bruce asked the court clerk: "Didn't we have some kind of trouble in the Everett City Hall a few years ago; what was the fine in that case, $25 or $50?"

The clerk after examining the record said the fine was $25.

"All right, remind Judge Bruce, "The same will go in this case."

McNeil entered appeal and gave a $500 Liberty bond as surety.

According to the police McNeil entered Pettengill's office on November 1, and asked how election ballots were being handled. Pettengill is said to have replied h was sending them out and if anything happened he would be blamed.

McNeil, following the reply of Pettengill is alleged to have visited a rail and struck the City Clerk behind the ear.

Washington Sees Business Boom in Rise of Stocks

Washington, Nov. 13 (I.N.S.)—Treasury officials today interpreted the phenomenal rise of stocks since election as indicative of a probable healthier condition of business throughout the country.

Commenting on the boost of $1,000,000,000 in security values following the election, officials expressed the belief that these stocks would settle down somewhat.

M'DONALD COMING TO U. S., BUT WON'T LECTURE

FOUR BOYS HELD AS ROXBURY STORE LOOTERS

Warrants for Four Others Will Break Up Troublesome Gang, Police Say

With the arrest of four Roxbury boys and the issuance of warrants for four others, the police believe they have rounded up a gang that has been responsible for many robberies in that district.

Officer Cullinane of the Dudley street station arrested George Doyle, No. 2445 Washington street; Arthur Webber, No. 1 Church place; Robert Webber, his brother, and Ralph Johnson, No. 215 Cabot street.

They were arraigned in the Juvenile Court before Judge Palmer today as delinquents and were charged with breaking and entering. They pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued until next Thursday.

In court it was stated that two loaded guns were found in possession of the boys when arrested.

Those who have signified their intentions of attending are U. S. Attorney General Harlan F. Stone, '94; Senator-elect Frederick H. Gillett, '74, the President of Harvard, William Smith, Mount Holyoke and Massachusetts Agricultural Colleges as well as of nine others who hold degrees from Amherst. The Amherst-Williams football classic will take in the afternoon.

NEW ENFORCEMENT BODY BEING FORMED IN R. I.

Providence, Nov. 13.—Arthur F. Tarbell, assistant superintendent of the Rhode Island Anti-Saloon League since March, 1923, has resigned "because I am of the firm conviction that I can do more for the cause of law enforcement outside than within it."

Tarbell said a new body was being formed to include three other classes of violators, which he named as corrupt officials, gamblers and women law-breakers. He was former assistant superintendent of the Connecticut Anti-Saloon League with offices in Hartford.

RIVER VICTIM WAS SHOT TO DEATH

Body of Well-Dressed Man Is Found Weighted in Mystic River

Police officials are today investigating the death of a well-dressed man whose body was found lying face downward in the mud of the Mystic River, near Sullivan square playground, with a heavy weight tied tightly about his neck and a bullet wound in his mouth.

The body was found at low tide by members of the Charlestown High School football squad who were at the park for practice. One of the team, whose name the police do not know, called the police boat and the body was removed to the Northern mortuary.

A .38 calibre revolver was found lying beside the body with an expensive traveling bag containing several shirts and collars in addition to toilet articles and note paper.

There was nothing either on the body or in the bag that would help the police to make an identification of the body, excepting a shoe brush with the initials A. T. burned on the back.

The police also are making an investigation of the presence of a half filled whiskey flask and a tin of tablets found in the man's pocket.

Medical Examiner George H. McGrath, who ordered the body to the Northern Mortuary, will perform an autopsy today.

The police officials who are investigating the death are inclined to believe the man may have committed suicide, but refuse to announce their decision in the matter until after the autopsy.

SCENE OF WOBURN'S MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDY

VICTIM AND TWO OF HER BROTHERS

Muscles Drugged to Produce Painless Childbirth

New York, Nov. 13.—Physicians in several New York hospitals are using muscular anaesthesia as an aid to mothers at childbirth with remarkable success, Dr. James T. Gwathmey, noted obstetrician, declares.

"Any physician who follows our technique can use this method successfully, and without harm either to mother or child," he said.

"A simple compound, containing morphine, is injected into the muscles, and produces a condition whereby the mother, while conscious, feels no pain," Dr. Gwathmey added.

Congo Reformer Dies

Teignmouth, England, Nov. 13.—Edmund Dene Morel, labor member of the House of Commons, is dead. His work in forming the Congo Reform Association in 1904, largely contributed to the exposure of the rubber horrors in the Congo and resulted in their cessation.

SLAIN WOBURN GIRL'S FATHER REMANDED

When Michael Capron of No. 23 Centre street, Woburn was arraigned in Woburn District Court before Judge Jesse W. Storton today, charged with the murder of his fifteen-year-old daughter, Elvira, the case was continued until tomorrow.

Edward W. Kenney, counsel for Capron asked continuation on the ground that the evidence so far submitted clearly indicated that the girl had committed suicide and that the autopsy would support that assertion.

Capron is held without bail pending the result of the autopsy by Medical Examiner Vernon C. Stewart of Woburn and Dr. George Burgess Magrath of Boston.

THREATENED SUICIDE.

Elvira Capron suffered instantaneous death in the kitchen of her father's home. James Tedesco and William Stygle entering the room a few minutes later found the father leaning over the body.

In Capron's hand was the death gun but Tedesco declares he was holding it clumsily by the barrel and was perhaps just picking it up.

Although the course of the bullet is not known, police ascertained that it entered the girl's head two inches above the right ear and slightly behind it.

Capron is held because it is believed that even if the girl did kill herself, she did so as a result of possible acts on his part. The father's alleged acts have caused trouble before in the family, resulting in another daughter's leaving home and an investigation of family affairs by Woburn police.

Elvira threatened only last Friday to shoot herself, according to her brothers, Edward, thirteen, and Andrew, eleven years old. Her sister, Mrs. Susan Edigto of No. 7 Second street, East Cambridge, declares she threatened to do so long ago.

Mrs. Edigio was informed of her sister's tragic death and her father's arrest by reporters. She said:

"I thought it would happen. I knew it would come to this. When my father drank, none of us could stay around him. I feared him and so did my sister, Elvira. He didn't treat us like daughters."

HAPPY IN MORNING.

On the wall of the room where Elvira was shot, hang several knives and a shot-gun. The death revolver generally was on the mantelpiece.

Elvira attended the Woburn High School. According to neighbors, she worked hard at housework when not in school, but she never seemed unhappy. Police are impressed with stories of her apparent happiness on the morning of the shooting.

In the kitchen, police found a quantity of moonshine. They declare that Capron showed them a coffee cup in which he said he mixed the liquor with the coffee.

Elvira was shot while taking care of her father, who kept her home from school for that purpose. He was ill, complaining of chest pains. He admits a quarrel and declares it was over a blue silk scarf. He says he bought this and scolded Elvira for throwing it around carelessly.

The dead girl's mother died seven years ago. Besides her two young brothers and her sister in Cambridge, she has a brother, Dominic, who is in the navy.

GEM ROBBERY SUSPECT CAPTURED IN WATER

Leominster, Nov. 13.—Police took to the water today to arrest Morris I. Burt. Officers who saw Burt near the Safford jewelry store, which had just been broken into pursued him through several streets, shooting as they ran, and followed him when he plunged into a millpond. Much jewelry was recovered along the line of flight. Burt pleaded not guilty in court and was held in $2,000 bail.

EXTRA COFFEE STORED HOLDS THE PRICE UP

Although More Is Arriving at Sao Paulo, Exports Are Not Much Heavier

Rio Janeiro, Nov. 13.—If the American householder notices a further rise in the cost of his favorite breakfast table drink, the explanation, according to coffee market authorities here, will be found largely in the recent cessation by the Brazilian federal government of its interference with the Sao Paulo valorization scheme.

During September and October the federal authorities, in an effort to bring coffee prices down as an aid to the monetary situation, discontinued operation of the Sao Paulo plan. Under this plan the daily entries of coffee into Santos are fixed on a basis which approximately distributes the average crop throughout the entire year, thereby avoiding the low prices caused each season, before the adoption of the plan, through dumping the coffee on the market only during the crop season of from six to seven months.

Thus, with the valorization not in operation, the shipments into Santos, instead of being regularly 25,000 bags a day, as the plan provided, were increased during September and October this year until a maximum of double this quantity poured into the market daily. But exports were not increased in proportion to the increase in the amount released by the government. The excess amount was bought up by dealers operating in the Brazilian market, and has not yet found its way abroad. The result was that coffee quotations strengthened steadily.

Pastor Opposed Dance; Quits

New York, Nov. 13.—The resignation of the Rev. Charles W. Dane, pastor of St. Mark's Congregational Church, Brooklyn, which was proffered because the clergyman objected to dancing in his church, has been accepted by the congregation by a vote of 63 to 40. Mr. Dane's resignation is to take effect March 1, 1925.

FORD'S PLEA SECURES LENIENCY FOR FIREBUG

Detroit, Nov. 13.—Henry Ford appealed to Judge Adolph Marschner in Circuit Court for leniency for John McCammon, a nineteen-year-old youth, who on the nights of April 15 and 16 burned seven barns and one house on Mr. Ford's property. The boy pleaded guilty to arson and had been in the county jail since April 18, awaiting disposition of his case. He was put on probation for two years.

BORAH TO URGE EXTRA SESSION OF NEW CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 13.—An extra session of the new Congress soon after next March 4, was urged today by Senator Borah, who declared he thought farm and railroad measures as well as the world court proposal and perhaps tax relief should be taken up at that time.

The Idaho Senator voiced his opinion after a call on President Coolidge, but said the legislative situation was not discussed at their conference.

As a result of the death of Senator Lodge, Mr. Borah is in line for chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

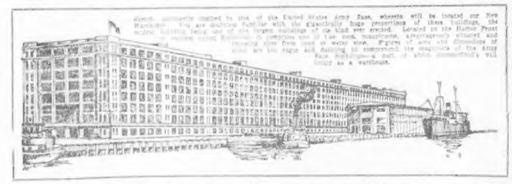
Preparatory to Abandonment of Our Present Warehouses

A partial view of our present warehouses, comprising several buildings fronting on Tremont and Appleton Streets, Boston.

Soon to Forsake These Buildings

to Occupancy of

Our New Warehouse



Warehouse Removal Sale

Progress Makes This Move Necessary

The buildings stretching forth on Tremont and Appleton Streets, Boston, have long proved inadequate to serve the fast increasing requirements of our warehouse. Summerfield's has long outgrown even their immense areas. Our business has developed to such prodigious proportions that we were compelled to seek vastly greater accommodations.

There Wasn't a Building in Boston Large Enough to Meet Our Needs

Other than the United States Army Base, Summer Street Extension, no, there was no site to meet the requirements for space no matter how large we may grow to!

We are soon to abandon the old warehouse—and everything contained therein is to be sold—not moved or transferred. Although we call this event "Warehouse Removal Sale."

We Will Move Nothing But Our Name, Equipment and Reputation!

All stocks of merchandise contained therein are to be sold—at unbelievable sacrifices.

The fascinating articles, reprinted from a recent newspaper, show why this Sale must be held:

Assuming a position of commanding importance in the business life of Boston, Summerfield's has grown from a small store on Washington Street, Roxbury, to one of the largest retail establishments in New England.

Within the past few years the business has outgrown its present quarters in the Tremont and Appleton Street buildings, and the new warehouse, which will be ready for occupancy in the early spring, is the result of the necessity for more room.

Summerfield's has been a pioneer in the development of the Washington Street section of Boston, and the new warehouse is in the center of the district which has been the scene of the greatest growth in the city during the past few years.

The new warehouse will be one of the largest in Boston, and will be equipped with the most modern facilities for the handling of merchandise. It will be a model of its kind, and will be a credit to the city.

No Mail or Phone Orders Filled—

Due to rapidity of selling and varying limited quantities of each lot, it will be necessary to decline filling orders except from your personal selection.

Out-of-Towners—You will do well to attend this sale in person—no matter how distant you may reside from Boston. Savings you make will repay you magnificently for the trip.

Our Liberal Terms of Payment apply to all purchases — you are privileged to make selections, and upon payment of small deposit, goods will be delivered to you at once. Make use of Summerfield's Pay-Out-of-Income Purchase Plan—take the weekly or monthly payments arising for into the future.

Reference Note—
Stock numbers are given to assist you in identifying the lots advertised. Limited space forbids listing all lots—items pictured are simply representative of the vast quantities of Suites and Odd Pieces.

For sake of brevity and to avoid constant repetition—when the words "Mahogany" or "Walnut" are used, it is to signify that the articles so designated are constructed of those woods in combination with other choice cabinet woods.

'VET' REGAINS LOST MEMORY THROUGH RADIO

Methuen Man Confined in a Quebec Hospital Hears Boston Concert

Lawrence Nov. 13.—Hope has come again to Horace C. Glasspoole, disabled veteran of the World War, who is now confined in a hospital in Quebec, and it came over the radio.

A few evenings ago the Glee Club of John Hancock Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Methuen, was on the broadcasting program of station WHZ, Hotel Brunswick, Boston.

The songs sung by the Methuen group were carried through space to the hospital in Quebec, where the war veteran, a former Methuen lad, listened with interest.

The concert by the men from his home town awoke in him that which had slept for many months, his memory. He had forgotten who he was and where he had come from and who were his relatives.

The strange case has aroused much local interest, as the young man is daily beginning to acquire his lost memory, and he attributes much of his new-born hope to the hearing of the Methuen men's voices through the loud speaker at the Quebec hospital.

In 1914 Glasspoole left Methuen to join the English army. He is a nephew of Fred Barnes of this city, a well-known musician.

Glasspoole has written a letter here in which he asked that the members of the club broadcast an inquiry as he could not recall the names of others of his relatives who reside in Massachusetts.

THREE MORE ARRESTED IN MAINE RUM DRIVE

Bangor, Me., Nov. 13.—Three more arrests were made today by Federal agents in the rum drive in Northern Maine. A total of forty have been arrested since last Saturday, when the Federal grand jury reported seventy-four secret indictments, most of them liquor cases. The men arrested today were charged with keeping liquor for sale and maintaining a nuisance. They are Samuel Hoffman, Frank Palis and Peter Jullan, all of Hancock street, Bangor.

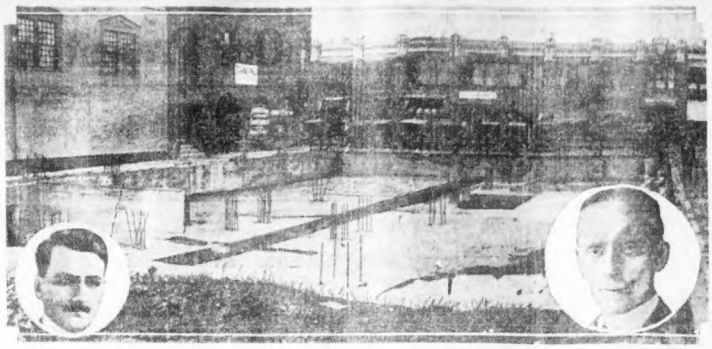
MEDFORD'S "$100,000 HOLE" BIG ISSUE



WHAT WILL MEDFORD DO WITH IT?

Mayor Coolidge, at right, wants to sell site and build a city hall elsewhere. James G. Harris, at left, his opponent for the mayoralty, wants to sell it and use the money for schools. Three referendums dealing with it are on the ballot.

MEDFORD CITY HALL ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

Medford's $100,000 hole in the ground, once intended as the cellar of a half-million dollar city hall, is again an issue in a political campaign.

Mayor Richard B. Coolidge, candidate for re-election, wants to build the hall. His opponent, James G. Harris, former member of the governor's council, is opposed to the construction at present.

Both men want to sell the site of the expensive cellar in the square because it is one of the most valuable business locations in the city and would pay the city well in taxes.

A joker has been discovered in the referendum which will be submitted to the voters on December 9. As the questions are worded, they can either take a new hall or retain the unsightly hole. They cannot vote to sell the hole and not to build a new hall.

Those who do not want the new hall are trying to figure out how they can express themselves against it. The questions on the ballot are:

Shall the new city hall be built on the original site? Shall that site be sold and the hall built on the Common? Shall the old site be sold and the hall built elsewhere than on the Common?

The voters can answer yes or no to but one of the three questions. There is no definite question to ascertain whether the voters want a new hall.

Construction of the City Hall originally proposed by ex-Mayor Benjamin F. Hughes was stopped by court injunction, after $100,000 had been spent on excavation and foundation.

Present quarters are in a business block. The offices are small and cramped. When a citizen goes to the city clerk for his birth, marriage or other record, the clerk has to go downstairs two flights and into the cellar of the adjoining Five-and-Ten Cent store to look up his files.

Aldermanic meetings are held in a schoolhouse. A police guard has to be detailed to protect records in transit from the city offices to the school every time a meeting is held. The city building, moreover, is owned by an outsider and the city is at the owner's mercy as regards rent.

Candidate Harris declares the city needs new schoolhouses more than a new city hall. Mayor Coolidge asserts that it will pay the city to sell the old site and put the large amount of money obtained therefrom into a new site and hall suitable for a city of 47,000 inhabitants. Other issues in the campaign, which promises to be hot, are streets, taxes, the paying of salaries to the aldermen, and reduction of the Board of Aldermen from twenty-one to seven members.

DAVIS GOING TO EUROPE WITH WIFE AND DAUGHTER

New York, Nov. 13.—John W. Davis, defeated Democratic Presidential nominee, will sail for Cherbourg within the next two weeks with Mrs. Davis and his daughter, Mrs. William MacMillan Adams, it was announced today. Mr. and Mrs. Davis contemplate a Winter cruise in the Mediterranean. Mrs. Adams came to this country from her home in Copenhagen soon after her father was nominated and was organizer of the Democratic First Voters' League.

"CHRISTIAN GENERAL" HAS NOT FLED TIENTSIN

Peking, Nov. 13 (AP).—Reports that General Feng Yu-Hsiang, "Christian General," in military control here through the recent coup, had fled from Tientsin where he has been attending an important conference were denied today. Feng's conference at Tientsin with Chang Tso-Lin the Manchurian war lord, Tuan Chi Jui, former premier, and Chang Hsueh-Liang, son of Chang Tso-Lin, was still proceeding, it was stated.

DOUBLE SLAYING IS BAFFLING TO POLICE

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 13.—Police today were confronted with solving the mysterious murder of Louis Rosen, twenty-nine, and his brother-in-law, Adolph Adelson, of Philadelphia, who with his wife was visiting the Rosens.

The men were shot and killed by different sized bullets early today in the rear of Rosen's home in the East boulevard district of Rockefeller's park.

The first police theory was robbery. They also were puzzled over an anonymous telephone call received at headquarters telling them "If you get a report of a gang shooting they guns in the East 97th street, don't pay any attention to it. The noise was their automobile exhaust."

The shooting occurred after Rosen and Adelson returned from a pinochle game. As they drove in Rosen's yard in his automobile their wives, who are sisters, heard six or seven shots. The women found the husbands lying face down in the grass outside the open garage. Their clothes were rumpled and the sod trampled.

CHARITY BALL FOR BASKET FUND

Will Be Held December 11 at Copley-Plaza Ballroom

A brilliant charity ball will be conducted in the Copley-Plaza Hotel on Thursday evening, December 11, in aid of the Helping Hand Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston American.

This charity ball will be the largest social event of the season in behalf of the American's Basket Fund, and it is expected thousands of persons will attend.

This big event will be conducted under the joint auspices of the Gertrude Dolan-DePetro Studios of Dancing, No. 108 Dudley street, and the Madame Lyman School for Stage Children, No. 528 Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay.

Tickets for the ball will be on sale in a day or two and may be obtained from the above-named teachers and their pupils at one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children under fifteen years of age.

An attractive entertainment will be given from 8 to 10 p. m. and general dancing until 1 p. m. to the music of a good orchestra.

Every cent of profit derived from the ball will be used solely for the purpose of buying food for needy families at Christmas. It is expected hundreds of families will be fed on Christmas Day as the result of this big event.

Members of the St. James Council, 288, Knights of Columbus, and their friends are planning to aid the Christmas Fund through the medium of a "turkey whist" next Tuesday evening in Walter Scott Hall, at the junction of Berkeley and Appleton streets, South End. Entire proceeds of this party will be turned over to the American's fund. The committee of arrangements includes Michael P. Finn, grand knight, and John J. Quirk, lecturer.

Contributions to the fund follow:

Balance from 1923	$388.99
Interest at 8 per cent	20.34
"Baby Pescaglia"	1.00
M. M. T.	5.00

Total	$435.33

GENERAL BUTLER NOT GOVERNORSHIP CANDIDATE

Philadelphia, Nov. 13.—Director of Public Safety Butler denied reports he said had reached him that he sought to build up a machine in his office to support him for the governorship in 1926.

"This is an effort on the part of rumor mongers to drive a wedge between the Mayor and myself," he said. "And I want it distinctly understood I am not a candidate for any office."

To Conduct Ball

IN CHARGE OF DANCE

Mrs. Gertrude Dolan-DePetro (Hyland studio photo) above and Mme. Lyman, who will direct charity ball at Copley-Plaza in aid of the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund.

DROUGHT MAY BE BROKEN BY HURRICANE

A hurricane sweeping toward the New England coast from the vicinity of Bermuda and a blizzard traveling eastward form the northwest offer some hopes of breaking Boston's drought, now in its thirty-sixth day.

There is no immediate indications of a decided change in the weather in this section, however. The weather bureau's prediction for today is fair and cooler. The forecast for Friday, however, is more promising as "unsettled" weather is promised.

Should the drought continue until tomorrow, all records of the Boston weather bureau for a continuous dry spell will be broken. No rain fell in Boston from February 25 until April 3, in 1915, a period of 36 days which is the existing record since the establishment of the bureau.

VERMONT FOREST FIRES BURN OVER 158 ACRES

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 13.—A forest fire in Maidstone that burned over 100 acres was reported to the State Forest Service here. It was checked before great loss had been caused, but buildings on an abandoned farm were burned. Other fires reported today burned a total of fifty-eight acres in Lowell, Pittsford, Marshfield and Brattleboro.

"DAD DRUNK AGAIN," SAYS DIARY; HE GETS 30 DAYS

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—Because his daughter had the "diary habit" and jotted down each day's events, Harvey Guther is now serving 30 days in the work house.

Mildred, the daughter, presented her diary in court here. Ninety-four entries since January 1 read as follows:

"Dad is drunk again."

HILL, OF HOME CIDER FAME, IS ACQUITTED

U. S. Court Jury Studied the Volstead Law and a Dictionary

Baltimore, Nov. 13.—Representative John Philip Hill, of Baltimore, was acquitted by a jury in United States Court today for violating the Volstead law by manufacturing intoxicating wine and cider at his home.

The Congressman's case was given to the jury about 1:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When nearly four hours of deliberation failed to bring an agreement, Judge Morris A. Soper adjourned court, authorizing the jury to return a sealed verdict if a decision was reached.

Only twice last night was this done, word from the jury. On one occasion a copy of section 29 of the Volstead act was requested. This section relates to home manufacture of cider and fruit juices. Later the jurymen asked for a dictionary.

The fifth and sixth counts of the indictment, which charged Hill with maintaining a common nuisance at his home were dismissed under instructions from Judge Soper.

The trial was the result of a test case forced by Colonel Hill, who maintained that the Volstead law gave the farmer a right to manufacture cider and wine, but withheld from the city man the right to manufacture beer.

The trial brought from Judge Soper the opinion that the clause of the Volstead act defining beverages of more than half of one per cent. alcoholic content as illegal did not apply to home made wines and cider, provided the product is non-intoxicating "in fact."

Judge Soper also indicated by his rulings and his charge to the jury that the burden rested upon the government to show that such home products were intoxicating and a violation of the law.

JAZZING AN ATOM TO GET GOLD

(International Newsreel Photo)

SUCCESS MAY MEAN USING $2 TO MAKE $1

Professor H. H. Sheldon is experimenting with mercury, on the theory that it can be turned into gold. Professor Bergen Davis, head of chemistry at Columbia University, thinks it can be done. The problem is to kick out an atom from the mercury family, and science admits that atoms are peculiarly clannish.

BELIEVES GOLD CAN BE MADE OF MERCURY

New York, Nov. 13 (I.N.S.).—Professor Bergen Davis, head of Columbia University chemistry department, declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service today that it is possible to make gold out of quicksilver, as claimed by Professor H. H. Sheldon of New York University.

Professor Sheldon is attempting by a series of experiments to confirm results and to have been achieved accidentally last year by Professor Methe of Berlin.

"Professor Sheldon's experiments are based on the fact that an atom of mercury, or quicksilver, has eighty electrons, while gold has seventy-nine," Professor Davis explained. "If he succeeds in knocking off one mercurial electron no will have gold."

Pointing out the difficulties involved in Sheldon's plan to transmute an ounce of mercury into a little less than the same quantity of gold, Professor Davis said:

"To transmute one element into another, it is necessary to remove one or more portions of hydrogen nuclei from the nucleus of an atom. To change mercury into gold would necessitate the removal of two or three hydrogen protons from the nucleus of a quicksilver atom.

"The experiments of Sir Ernst Rutherford have shown that the energy required to remove protons from an atom is very great." Professor Davis continued. "So far as I am aware, it has been done only by means of the great energy possessed by alpha particles from radium.

"There is only a bare chance that the experiments will be successful, however." Professor Davis concluded, "and even then it may be discovered that the cost of manufacture would equal the value of the bullion."

BOSTON SINGER IN REAL LIFE FAIRY TALE

Joan Ruth Conquers Great Metropolitan Opera With Her Golden Voice

Once upon a time there was a little girl who lived in Boston, and when she joined in the chorus of "The Farmer in the Dell," which they used to sing in the Rice Street Grammar School every Friday afternoon, her teacher used to look at her dreamily and smile.

"Mamma," said the little girl, whose name was Joan Ruth, "my teacher says I have a voice."

"Yes?" smiled her mother. "So?" murmured her father.

And a lot of other people told little Joan that she had a voice, but she much preferred to play with dolls.

When the girl grew to the dignity of party dresses and satin slippers, the boys and girls in her set in high school used to ask her to sing, and she was always obliging, even if a bit shy.

Our Princess at 18 decided to go on the stage.

JERITZA CHARMED.

She was beautiful, lively, a graceful dancer, and she was just the petite type the musical comedy managers were looking for.

"I can sing, too," she said to the man who engaged her for the chorus of "The Dream Girl."

"Well, we hire chorus girls for their looks," said the stage manager. "Of course, if they can dance it helps."

But, of course, Joan did sing in the chorus.

She remained in the ensemble of "The Dream Girl" until the end of the season, and then started taking voice lessons in earnest.

"You have a beautiful voice," said the teacher to whom she went for training.

OPERA CLAIMS HER.

And through the teacher, Joan, just 20, went up to Portland, Me., last month and sang in the famous Maine Festival. Jeritza was on the program and she marveled at the little girl's voice.

Then some men in New York heard of her. And they sent for her to come on.

She chatted about it today.

"It's just like a fairy tale," she said.

On the little writing desk in her room was a contract. It was the contract that had been given her just before she made her debut in the famous Metropolitan Opera—she sang Olympia (the Doll) in the revival of Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman." The contract is for a year, with an option of five years, at a salary so grand that the little girl from Boston is bewildered.

POMEROY MAY YET HEAR BAND; GIVES DOLLAR

Announcement of the concert by the band of St. Mary's Industrial School, Baltimore, under the auspices of the Working Boys' Home of Newton Highlands, at Mechanics Hall next Sunday afternoon, drew from Jesse H. Pomeroy, noted "lifer" in Charlestown prison, a note to Dr. Fabian, C. F. X., superintendent of the home, in which Pomeroy regretted "my engagements" will not give him a chance to attend and enclosing a dollar "to use as you think fit." He asked that the band from the school which "Babe" Ruth attended for twelve years be brought to Charlestown some time. Dr. Fabian has announced that if the suggestion meets with the approval of the prison authorities the request will be granted.

Mrs. H. Doen

New York Is Noted for Its Beautiful Women

Harrison, N. Y.—"For years I was bothered with my blood and stomach and also constipation. The doctor said I was anemic and if I didn't take care of myself it feared consumption. His medicine failed, so my mother decided to try the remedies she had used for ten or twelve years. She started to give me Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a good blood tonic, and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for my bowels, and these medicines made me feel fine. I was not able to sleep nights and was irritable before, but after taking the 'Discovery' I could sleep well and felt good. I thought my case was hopeless and I was cured, so you may be, too. Why suffer?"—Mrs. H. Doen, East White Plains.

Your neighborhood druggist carries a full line of Dr. Pierce's famous remedies. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice. Send 10c if you desire a trial package of any of Dr. Pierce's remedies.

SON IN CRASH AFTER FATHER IS KILLED

Lynn Motorcyclist May Die; Was on Way to Undertaker

Henry Robinson of No. 261 Boston street crashed head-on into a street car on Franklin street while riding on a motorcycle to make arrangements for the funeral of his father, Simon, who had been killed in an accident a few hours before. The son suffered concussion of the brain and is on the danger list at Lynn Hospital.

His father, a carpenter, was shingling a roof at No. 9 Hudson street when the gutter gave way and he fell twenty-five feet to the ground. One of his ribs penetrated the heart and he was dead on arrival at Lynn Hospital.

SAYS PHONE CO. WANTS STRIKE PAID FOR

Corporation Counsel Calls Plea for Rate Increase "Bunk"

The latest plea of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company that it seeks to increase telephone rates in Boston, because the company faces a loss in 1924 as characterized as "bunk" by Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan.

8 P. C. DIVIDEND PAID.

"The real reason, in my opinion, is that the company is desirous of recouping the losses sustained by it during the strike in 1924, which millions of dollars were spent by the company in its efforts to break up the telephone operator's union," declares a statement issued by Mr. Sullivan.

The statement of the Corporation Counsel was issued in reply to the second of a series of newspaper advertisements put out by the company, in an effort to justify the demand for higher telephone rates.

The burden of argument advanced by the telephone company in the second advertisement is that the purchasing power of the dollar has lessened and is reflected in higher prices for material and labor.

"The company's recourse to the Public Utilities Commission," says the Sullivan statement, "indicate that it has been able to pay an 8 per cent. dividend on its stock to its stockholders, that it has been able to set aside each year a more than sufficient amount for depreciation and that it has not been losing money.

SEEK PAY FOR STRIKE.

"The company claims that it lost money beginning with 1924 only.

Special Notice

Surely the purchasing power of the dollar in the year 1924 has been no lower than at any time during the period from the close of the World War to January, 1924.

"The company is now attempting to make good the loss sustained by the strike by making the public bear its burdens in the form of increased rates rather than make its stockholders bear the burden of a strike situation for which the company and its management was wholly to blame."

FAKE STATUE IN HUB MUSEUM ALLEGED

Former Art Manager in Paris Declares "St. Paul" Is Spurious

Paris, Nov. 12 (A.P.).—The alleged French art faking industry again is to be aired in the criminal court when Jean Vigoroux, former New York manager for the late Joseph Demotte, art dealer, is brought to trial charged with abuse of the confidence of Demotte.

Demotte was killed last September hunting. Vigoroux, who has been out on bail, surrendered himself to the authorities tonight according to custom. He will be defended by Paul Boncour, a French delegate to the League of Nations assembly. Demotte will be represented by his widow.

Vigoroux said that he was going to take the aggressive in exposing art faking. He said he had insisted on trial before a jury, with the possibility of a heavier penalty, in order to widen the scope of the testimony.

According to Vigoroux he intends to expose alleged fakes in the Louvre and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and also prove that the statue of Saint Paul in the Boston Museum is spurious. He has summoned the greatest French archaeologists and art critics and the director of the Trocadero Museum as witnesses.

Adventurous Hunters Cling to Summer Habitats Along the Shore

By BETTY ALDEN

WHEN the hunter's horn calls, there's nothing at all can keep the Myopia riders away.

The drag meets continue to be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, while the fox hounds meet on Wednesday and Friday.

Today the hunters meet at 6:45, which is just exactly thirteen minutes before King Sol is due to peep over the horizon.

The sort of thing that brings the glow of health to tanned cheeks—this thundering over hill and dale—sometimes at breakneck speed—while the early morning air fairly bristles with exhilaration.

On Saturday afternoon at half past three the Myoplans will gather at Rowley Common.

NOT even the demure debutante, with all her attendant festivities, can detract the Hamilton-Wenham hunters from their most beloved sport.

In fact, one of the most prominent buds of the season is herself lingering late into the month on the shore. She is Miss Theodora Ayer, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Ayer of "Juniper Ridge," Hamilton.

Miss Theodora, who, with her sister Anne, takes part in virtually every equine event held along the shore, was, I believe, the only debie present at the dinner-dance which the John S. Lawrences gave for the Prince of Wales when that young gentleman paid his recent visit down Hamilton and Topsfield way.

Miss Ayer is slender and of medium height, with light brown hair framing a rather sweet-looking face.

Before long the Ayers will return to town to their spacious mansion on Dartmouth street, for Miss Theodora's debut is scheduled for the tenth of next month. The affair will be a large ball, taking place at the Hotel Somerset, and promises to be one of the most brilliant bud functions of the Winter. Preceding the dance, Mr. and Mrs. Ayer will be hosts at a large dinner.

THIS week's round of festivities for the debutantes retains its delightfully thrilling pace right through Saturday.

Today Mrs. Arthur Nichols is entertaining at luncheon for her granddaughter, Miss Sarah Shurtleff, daughter of the Arthur A. Shurtleffs. Tomorrow comes the "open house" at the Junior League's headquarters—postponed from Monday—when the League's officers will extend their welcome to the buds elected this Fall; tomorrow evening the Harvard Yard Lampoon dance over Cambridge way offers its attractions, while Saturday has on the cards the first of the Elliot Hall dances.

MISS CONSTANCE RIPLEY and her mother, Mrs. Baillie Ripley, are now in New York, where they will remain for another month or so before returning to Boston.

The older daughter, Miss Julie Ripley, sailed some time ago on a jaunt to Paris, where the Ripleys spend much of their time.

Those who saw "Wake Up," the Vincent Club show of last Spring will remember the clever pirate dance given by the Ripley sisters. The dashing costumes they wore they had designed themselves.

Society Notes

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LIVERMORE have returned to their winter residence in Brookline after closing "Boxfield," their country place at Boxford.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Aldrich left "White Gables," their Marblehead summer home, and returned to town a week or so ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland, all of Boston, arrived earlier in the week at the Hotel Lorraine in New York.

Francis H. Appleton has ended his season at Peabody and returned to town for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. William Galbraithe Mitchell are back at the Newbury street home after a season at "Cobweb House," their Hamilton estate.

Mrs. Robert Winthrop and her son, Grenville Lindall Winthrop, have closed their Berkshire summer home in Lenox and left for New York.

Miss Elizabeth D. Boardman has returned to town after her usual season at "Hill Top," West Manchester.

U. S. Stupid as Ever, Says Emma Goldman, Piqued at Ban

London, Nov. 13.—Emma Goldman, who has found the United States, Soviet Russia and Germany unsuitable places of residence, was welcomed to England by friends and admirers, who gave a banquet in her honor.

"The United States is just as stupid as ever," she said during a caustic reference to a telegram received here from commissioner of immigration Hubbard, in which it was announced that she had been permanently barred from entering the United States.

BISHOP COADJUTOR OF VERMONT IS ELECTED

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 13. — The Rev. Samuel Babcock Booth of Wrightstown, Pa., was elected bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Vermont at a special diocesan council in St. Paul's Church. The convention was composed of thirty clerical and eighty lay delegates convened to choose a successor to the late bishop coadjutor, George Y. Bliss of Burlington.

JOHN KANE, NOTED TELEGRAPHER, DEAD

John W. Kane, Western Union telegrapher, known to thousands as an announcer of sporting events, died at his home, No. 115 H street, South Boston, after an illness of a month. He was 34 years old. His cousin, the Rev. Fr. John F. Walsh, will officiate at a funeral mass in the Gate of Heaven Church, Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock.

SALAZAR GREAT AS TURIDDU IN CAVALLERIA

Voice Excellent and Acting Is Above Reproach; Mary Kent Is Realistic Lola

The feature of last night at the opera was the superb acting and singing of Manuel Salazar as Turiddu in "Cavalleria Rusticana." Mr. Salazar showed no apparent effects of the illness which forced him to quit the stage in the middle of last Saturday night's opera.

In fact, his tenor voice was very robust, and his interpretation of the role highly intense and emotional. In the farewell scene between his mother and himself, he was probably more convincing than any Turiddu heard in Boston in many a year. His stage deportment in general was above reproach, and he made one regret that he has not been seen and heard more during the stay of the San Carlo Company here.

The performance of the opera was good all around. Bianca Saroya made an acceptable Snatuzza, in spite of a tendency to force her tones. Mary Kent played the self-centered Lola in realistic fashion.

Mascagni's short but powerful tragedy was followed by "Pagliacci" as usual. The latter received a good performance if it did not reach the heights of "Cavalleria."

Gaetano Tommasini as Canio and Mario Basiola as Tonio, were both in excellent voice. The latter was very much applauded at the close of the prologue, and he finally was compelled to repeat a part of it. The audience, which was very large, was in an applauding mood all evening. It was a gala night.

In the afternoon the company put on "Martha," Chief interest centered in the American debut of Lucille Chalfant, who sang beautifully as Lady Harriet. Miss Chalfant was with the Greenwich Village Follies a couple of years ago, and has since studied abroad. Her performance furnished evidence of a very promising future.

NAVY CONTENDS SHIP MUST BE DESTROYED

Attorney-General Stone to Argue Arms Treaty in Mandatory

Washington, Nov. 13.—Attorney General Stone will appear for the Navy Department in the District Supreme Court tomorrow to argue against the injunction sought by William B. Shearer, New York naval expert, to prevent the destruction of the incompleted $30,000,000 battleship Washington as a naval target in gunnery tests.

At the same time the navy went ahead with plans to carry out the tests by ordering five naval tugs to Philadelphia for the purpose of towing the battleship to a point off the Virginia capes.

Declaration that the United States is required under Arms Limitation Treaty to destroy the battleship is made in a draft of the government's reply to Shearer's suit, prepared in the office of the naval advocate-general and submitted to Attorney-General Stone.

The draft as approved by Secretary Wilbur holds that the Navy Department has every right to dispose of the ship by gunfire and mining tests, as proposed, or in any manner considered of experimental value.

Shorn Freshmen Cut Hair of Pupils at High School

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 13.—Louisiana State University freshmen, whose heads we shaven by upper classmen, invaded the Baton Rouge High School and cut the hair of three teachers and a number of girl students.

The teachers were Misses Ruth Gladney, Dora Droz and Violet Keller. An attempt was made to cut the hair of Mrs. B. W. Pegues and Mrs. Charles Kean, two other instructors, but both resisted, Mrs. Pegues striking one assailant.

DENTIST PUT WIFE'S MEN GUESTS OUT

Fitzpatrick Testifies He Found All Drinking on Return Home

Dr. Albert G. Fitzpatrick, a Boylston street dentist, being sued by his wife for $40 a week for separate maintenance, admitted on the witness stand in East Cambridge court that he did put alkaline in his wife's female countenance.

The dentist informed the court that when he went home one night and found his wife and two other men in the house, all of whom had been drinking, cigarette butts strewn about the floor of a room, he ordered the men to leave the house.

"My wife started to put some of her friends in my car but I told them to get out of the house without waiting for an introduction. The dentist testified.

Dr. Fitzpatrick, who is vigorously contesting his wife's suit, denied that he ever struck her, but admitted epithets at her as one testified and under examination admitted that he had never really been happy during his seven years of married life.

She told me two children also would cut short [illegible] if they ever caused me trouble," the dentist testified.

Tom Fitzpatrick home on Saturday. Asked if he would be willing to go back to live with his wife from whom he has been estranged since last summer, the dentist replied "That would be an impossible task."

NAVY AIRPLANE TO CARRY FIVE PASSENGERS

Contract Signed for First of Boats to Make 1500-Mile Sustained Flights

Washington, Nov. 13.—A contract for a naval flying boat capable of making a sustained flight from the west coast to Honolulu has been signed by the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics. Specifications call for a proven capacity of five passengers and a ton of freight.

The contract was regarded in naval circles as the first step toward filling a recognized deficiency in the fleet for long distance maneuvers and if it meets expectations the navy plans to build as a model for the organization of a special fleet auxiliary capable of independent operation [illegible] miles from permanent base.

SAYS GARDEN OF EDEN WAS IN THE PACIFIC

New York, Nov. 13.—The Garden of Eden was in the Pacific ocean, on or near the Easter Islands. This is the belief of the Rev. James Church Ward, whose sermon by radio from the New York City municipal broadcasting station, on "The Motherland of Man," created a sensation today. Ten colonies and that after many years of research, which included the deciphering of writings 10,000 years old, it practically certain that the great land where man was born, he said, had been largely submerged by volcanic workings.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

Applicants for Insurance Should Use Swamp-Root

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influences of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in sizes of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

LONG LIST OF STATIONS ON 'SUPER'

The following is a list of stations which can be received on this type of receiving set. Under the call letters is given the name of the station, the location, and the wave length in meters. Dear Radio Fan: Here is a complete list of stations that can be received on the Super-Heterodyne receiver. Each station is listed under the call letters which it uses in broadcasting. The wave length in meters is also given, so that you can tune in on any station you desire. Tuning is very simple, as all you have to do is to set the dials at the wave length of the station you want to receive. The Super-Heterodyne is very selective, and it is possible to tune in on stations that are very close together. This means that you can get stations clearly in a way and in numbers as never before. All the programs broadcast from the stations listed below can be heard with a Super-Heterodyne set, as it is properly operated. Tune in today to hear those upon the air. Phone before 10 A. M. for the program to be broadcast that evening. Then tune in at the time scheduled for a better picture. This problem of tuning in is one of the most interesting features of receiving sets. In the receiver described below,

Gridironies

By THE REFEREE

"WHATLL I do? What'll I do?" has supplanted Yale's far-famed "Boola Boola" as the New Haven national anthem. What Princeton did to Harvard is the reason for the shift.

* * *

Everybody's wondering what is going to be done and who is going to do the doing down at O. U. Navad next Saturday.

* * *

Will the Texas Ie stake and the Silo label? That's answer for the football questionnaire.

* * *

It will be a sad, sad day down in Jungletown, but lest we forget, Ignoto Saluting M. next is going to visit our fair burg with Georgetown. It has an impressive record, showing off to after effects of a pickled wedding feast to the wee of Columbia.

* * *

Dartmouth hopes that some Ambert Mather from New Eng and may be able to make old ace pay repeat itself and stop the Big Red.

* * *

Old Penn also is most anxious to see Saturday scheduled at the Polo Grounds. The Quakers do not wish to take their Thanksgiving Feast stuffed by a post graduate of a mere preparatory wedding table.

* * *

And looking forward to Saturday's football mania the shocking word comes that Rutger's Raring Raritans are to line up against what is left of Tom Thorp's N. Y. U. aggregation. The carnage on Ohio Field should call for ambulances from every hospital adjacent and even farther away than that.

* * *

Haughtonless, but still undismayed, Columbia will sail up the river to the Plains of West Point. They say to an honest to goodness football game of grade of nerve.

* * *

The Boston Maroons will meet the Cadets at some point in a game which will settle the question of supremacy in the Boston Indian League. Shades of Geronimo happens to be on a League.

* * *

N. Y. U., St. John's and Stevens are very much out of the picture hereabouts.

Such popularity must be deserved

TO convert critics into enthusiasts, whether for a new school of music or for a cigarette, requires something more than luck. There's sound reason for every big swing in popular taste.

So, to account for Chesterfield's swift rise, look to the cigarette itself, its tobaccos, its blending—in short, its taste.

This one thing alone—its decidedly better taste—explains why thousands of men are changing from other cigarettes to Chesterfield.

FAMOUS FIRSTS

By Mark Stuyvesant

WALK down any city street, or in any country road and in all likelihood, you will hear, issuing from some nearby house, the musical notes of a piano.

The origin of the piano goes back to antiquity, farther back than history records. But we do know that a very long time ago, men made a musical instrument that was called a "lyre." It was an instrument made with strings which was hung up in the trees to be played by the wind. This was in ancient Greece.

A little later, the harp—which is later development of the lyre—was played all over Europe. The Irish harp is the most famous instrument of this type. From the harp developed the harpsichord, the father of the piano. It was really a harp put into a case and the strings instead of being plucked by the fingers were operated by keys that caused quills to rise and twitch the strings.

The first piano as we now know it, was made in Florence in 1709 by a man named Bartolommeo Cristofori. It was the custom in those days with kings, princes and nobles to keep large collections of musical instruments for playing purposes. And it was to keep such a collection in playing order that Prince Ferdinand del Medici engaged a Paudan harpsichord-maker Cristofori, the man who invented the pianoforte.

There are records which show that Cristofori was not the first to try to substitute hammers for the quills of the harpsichord—for that is the essential difference between the piano and the earlier instrument—but he was the first one to succeed in the endeavor.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

Johnny was five years old and the child of well-to-do people. One day while I was calling at their home I took the little fellow on my knee and said:

"Johnny, my little fellow, what are you going to do when you get to be a great big man?"

"Going barefoot," was the quick reply.—BIULA MOORE, Cummaquid, Mass.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

First Boy: "When I was a baby I swallowed a needle and three months later it grew out of me elbow.

Second Boy: "That's nothing; last week I swallowed a tack and now I have a nail on my toe."—ANNA THELMA RINGER, 15 Cottage street, Chelsea.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner

REMEMBER that the eyes of your children are correspondingly as tender as their muscles or their brains.

Dr. Mahoney.

You would not think of giving a child between two and ten a muscular task that would require the strength of an adult.

You would not give a similar child a mental problem that would require maturity of intellect for its solution.

Yet you have probably not thought that a child cannot with impunity do as much seeing in the same length of time as can an adult. The necessity for resting the eyes is one of several reasons why children should take a mid-day nap.

It is also the reason why, in all enlightened and progressive schools, eyestrain is carefully avoided, first, by direction of light ad, next, by the size of the objects, such as type and illustrations, that are used for teaching.

As a means of proper protection for your child, especially for a child under eight years of age, don't let him read or study by artificial light.

It is not a good thing to let children play in the glaring sunlight without some protection to their eyes.

A child, or for that matter a grown-up, who is just recovering from a severe illness should not at once subject the eyes to use in the strong light or for a long period in any light.

Children should not be permitted to read in bed and their fathers and mothers may act on the same hint.

If you have detected any of these evidences of visual deficiencies, especially if you have had them confirmed by professional examination, it is your duty to advise the child's teacher of the fact.

It is equally the duty of teachers to advise parents of similar observations.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

I cannot nurse my baby and have been recommended to me many kinds of baby foods that have good reputations. Would you recommend one or two of them.—MRS. B. J. K. Roxbury.

I am not in a position to recommend any particular brand of baby food and to one for the married. If I were you, however, I should be sure to consult a physician before feeding the baby on anything other than breast milk. He will tell you what is the proper formula is for your particular baby.

What can I do to clear up my complexion? It is muddy and at times I have pimples.—R. O. H. Boston.

You should improve your general health by proper food, plenty of fresh air and exercise.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

You may not be interested in the fact that the price of a membership of the New York Stock Exchange has just jumped $16,000, to $200,000. But the incident illustrates something which will interest you.

Hold on to anything useful the total supply of which cannot be increased.

* * *

The population of the United States is increasing faster than the population of any other white nation on the face of the earth. We have received as many as a million immigrants in one year and although this inflow has been drastically cut down by law, our population is swelling at the rate of 1,500,000 a year. Our national wealth is multiplying still more rapidly; it has increased $115,000,000,000 in the last ten years. Our total business has likewise expanded tremendously.

* * *

All this means greater demands for necessaries, comforts and luxuries. It means continuously growing purchasing power. It means rapidly expanding consumption.

* * *

Therefore, our stock of anything useful which cannot be increased becomes more and more valuable because there are more and more people to bid for it.

* * *

The best example of all is real estate.

Go to almost any thriving American city or town, and what do the people point out to you? "Look at that block," they say. "It was worth only a few thousand dollars ten years ago. Now it is worth more than $50,000." They take you to new residential sections, show you avenues of beautiful homes, and impress upon you "five years ago this was farm land. Now a few acres are worth what the whole farm was then worth."

* * *

As it is impossible to increase the amount of land in the United States, and as the increase in our population and our ability to buy land means greater and greater demand for land, the natural, the inevitable result is that the value of land rises and rises.

* * *

You may have read that railroad securities are enjoying a wonderful boom. Why?

The explanation usually offered is that the election of President Coolidge & Republican Congress means that the railroads will be left alone. This reasoning is all right so far as it goes, but it doesn't go very far.

A more fundamental reason is that the nation's total railway mileage has not increased in the past ten years. An increase in our population, the increase in our production, the increase in our commerce,

As a matter of fact, we have fewer miles of railroad today than we had ten years ago. This, too, in face of the increased demand for railroad facilities.

* * *

Why such a scramble all over the continent for the right to harness our rivers to power-producing machinery?

Because the amount of water which can be utilized to produce electric power is limited and the demand for power and light is rapidly increasing.

* * *

Hard coal is dearer than it used to be. One reason is that the cost of mining and delivering it has risen; but there is the more basic reason that the total known supply is limited.

* * *

Seats on the New York Stock Exchange used to sell for a few thousand dollars. But as the number of seats is limited to 1,100, and as the number of Americans who have become investors and speculators in stocks and bonds has multiplied tremendously during recent years, the privilege of handling this business on the Stock Exchange has become very much more valuable.

* * *

But why are automobiles, for example, cheaper than formerly? Mainly because it is relatively easy to set up an automobile manufacturing plant and the cost of necessary materials for making cars.

Why has oil dropped so much in price? Simply because it has been found possible to increase the supply enormously.

Diamonds bring high prices chiefly because the quantity coming to the market is limited. If the diamond mining companies in Cape Colony and the Transvaal were to dump on the market tons of these stones, the price would tumble headlong and the rich would no longer seize them.

* * *

I know a man who received a salary of $750,000 a year. Why? Because the supply of his kind of brains is extremely limited.

STOCK MARKET HISTORY IS REPEATED

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor

Stock market history repeats itself. Not always, but once in a while.

"The verdict of the American people, as expressed in the tremendous Republican victory of Tuesday, was reflected yesterday in an active and advancing stock market in which great volume and new high marks were notable features. Stock sales totaled 2,325,298 shares."

Sounds just like the present day, doesn't it? The above is a quotation from a New York newspaper of November 11, 1904. Just twenty years ago, when Parker was defeated by Taft. Yesterday (1924) great volume and new high prices were also notable features. Stock sales totaled 2,240,600 shares.

* * *

We have warned investors to be ware of those who make glib promises without proof of personal responsibility. Frequent letters have come to us we would like to know inventors have been swindled. A common way is for the swindler to pose as a stock promoter. Of course, he demands from the inventor a cash advance.

The inventor, in return, expects a company to be organized and sold from the proceeds of this sufficient money to get his invention before the public. This is fine in theory and it can be done in some cases. The obvious moral is that the inventor should be sure the person with whom he is dealing is reliable.

* * *

We are told that "hard coal is a costly burden" and that it costs $45,000,000 to the cost of living in Massachusetts. The people are urged to use soft coal instead, because hard coal is "a luxury." The argument does not impress the writer. Automobiles—at least, some of them—are luxuries. Many people want to go back to the horse and buggy? Enameled bathtubs are a luxury, but we are not likely to be give them up in favor of the wooden or galvanized iron tubs of old days. The American people demand some "luxuries," and the writer believes that most people in Massachusetts will continue to demand hard coal.

It is difficult to draw a fine line between luxuries and the necessities of life, judged by American standards.

* * *

Bull markets are not confined to stocks. Bonds, also, often advance as such. There's a big bull movement in peppermint oil and some persons out in the middle of the ocean are making peppermint futures out of it.

There was an unusually heavy consumption of the oil this year to manufacture menthol which ordinarily comes from Japan. So says the publication known as "Drug and Chemical Markets." This unusual demand cleared up the surplus stocks and left the growers in command of the situation.

Wholesale peppermint oil sells in the Boston market at $3 a pound. Now it is $7. Most of the crop of the United States comes from Michigan, but adjoining states, the yield normally being about 400,000 pounds.

MORGAN BUTLER HEADS COTTON ASSOCIATION

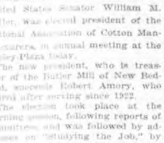
Morgan Butler of Boston, son of United States Senator William M. Butler, was elected president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, in annual meeting at the Copley-Plaza today.

The new president, who is treasurer of the Butler Ballard Mill of Medford, succeeds Robert Amory, who retired after serving since 1922.

The election took place at the morning session, following reports of committees, and was followed by addresses on "Studying the Job," by Hugh S. Hutchings of the Thompson & Lichtner Co., engineers, Boston, and John M. Barnes of Harpham, Barnes, Stevenson & Co., Inc., Boston, and N. T. Thomas of the Nashua Manufacturing Co., Nashua, N. H., spoke on "Significant Savings in Textile Operations."

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

Other officers chosen were: Senior vice-president, Russell H. Leonard, treasurer of the Ipswich and Pepperell Mills; junior vice-president, A. Sawtelle, treasurer of the Boston Manufacturing Company; directors for three years, W. Irving



L. F. Loree Morgan Butler

Bullard, vice-president of the Merchants' National Bank of Boston; John L. Burton, agent of the Pepperell Mills, New Bedford; John S. Lawrence of Lawrence & Co., Boston; James Sinclair, treasurer of the Charlton Mills of Fall River; E. Kent Swift, treasurer of the Whitin Machine Works of Whitinsville.

Directors for two years, Albert G. Mason, treasurer Whitman Mills, New Bedford; W. S. Pepperell, Providence, assistant treasurer Grosvenor Dale Mills, National Committeeman; C. F. Broughton, treasurer Wamsutta Mills, New Bedford.

Directors for three years in the class "New England Week," which he characterized as a "real awakening in this locality."

CRITICIZES SYSTEM.

"The drive," he said, "not only stimulated sales for that week, but will, if consistently followed up, have a lasting beneficial result. A similar campaign for cotton goods would make it possible to continue to manufacture cotton goods in New England on a comparatively even basis with other parts of the country, should take place in the operation of the mills."

Mr. Barnes asked why New England manufacturers continue to pay skilled wages for unskilled work, declaring our skilled employes should be used only on work requiring mechanical ability. He added that if a bonus, in addition to the regular piece rate, is to be based upon quality and quantity of work, is paid the mill will receive its share of the profit.

William O. Lichtner, discussing labor in connection with "studying the job," said a reduction of wages without a reduction in the cost of living can only result in one thing, and that is a vicious circle. If a workman's earnings are cut down his purchasing power is reduced, and he buys less, he pointed out.

L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson, addressed the Boston cotton manufacturers' national convention at the Copley-Plaza this evening.

CONVERSE DIVIDEND EARNED BY MARGIN

Although experiencing a generally poor Spring and Summer business, the Primary Earnings figure that Converse Rubber Shoe Co of Malden, earned its semi-annual dividend on the $2,457,400 of seven per cent. preferred stock, by a comfortable margin in the first six months of its fiscal year ended September 30. Directors will meet this week to declare the regular dividend. The $302,000 common stock is all held by President M. M. Converse and associates.

AMOSKEAG HAS SMART RISE IN BOSTON

In Wall Street trading, with heavy liquidation of professional traders apparently having run its course, stock prices gathered additional strength, impressive bullish demonstrations taking place in the industrial groups.

American Can and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe established record highs for all time at 157¼ and 147, respectively, while U. S. Steel common was within a small fraction of the year's top.

Over a score of industrials and specialties advanced 2 to 6 points before noon, including General Electric, Mack Truck, White Motors, Sears Roebuck, Dupont, American Sugar, Marine preferred and Central Leather preferred.

Several strong points also developed among the rails, Kan. Southern jumping 3½ points to a new top Lackawana climbing 3¾ and Atlantic Coast Line 2½. Sales in the first hour and a half totaled approximately 766,000 shares.

Call money again renewed at 2 per cent.

Trading on the Boston Exchange dealings, Amoskeag was up better than 6 points, reflecting approaching capacity operations. Pacific Mills advanced 3 in the early afternoon, while there were point or better additions for Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Eastern Steamship, Swift & Co., Hood Rubber and Massachusetts Gas.

Official of the great Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. stated that all of the entirep lant would be operated at capacity as soon as it is possible to put the twenty units in order to start up. Questioned as to how long this would take, the official replied that he could not make a definite statement, but indicated that the management was anxious to commence turning out goods on a large scale.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR CHICKIE APRONS

Prove a Boon to Housewife and Most Acceptable for Gifts

The demand for Chickie Aprons continues unabated.

Not only has the utility of the apron appealed to the housewife, but their value as gifts has become apparent.

For use for after-bridge suppers, and for many other purposes the Chickie Apron is proving indispensible.

College girls find them very handy to put on when setting up spreads in their rooms.

To the housewife they have proven a boon.

They may be obtained in the following places:

Buy What You Need Now

You Will Pay Bigger Prices for the Same Things Later On

The Boston American republishes with earnest indorsement, as a useful hint to readers, the following suggestion published in the "Today" column recently:

The careful citizen will go to the store and buy what he needs NOW, without further delay. Prices are low, because merchants whose business has been checked by abnormally warm weather have cut prices regardless of original cost.

But cold weather is COMING. And what is more important, the prosperity boom is here already. When prices go up on the Stock Exchange you know that before long prices will be going up IN THE STORES also. Do your shopping early for the sake of your POCKETBOOK this time, not merely for the sake of the overworked Christmastime salesman.

Those that know anything about business are aware that the abnormal Summerlike weather which has lasted into November has upset the selling plans of merchants and disorganized and diminished the amount of buying usual at this time of the year.

In consequence, as Mr. Brisbane's "Today" column points out, the merchants have been COMPELLED to cut their prices to the very lowest point, in order to stimulate business that has been injured by the unseasonable Summer weather.

Every man knows that the cold Winter is coming and the warm overcoat will be needed. Everybody knows that buying must be done sooner or later. But while weather is warm, buying is delayed. Then prices go down, and THIS IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF THE CAREFUL BUYER.

Therefore, not for the sake of the merchants, and not even for the sake of the overworked salespeople around Christmas time, but for THE SAKE OF YOUR OWN POCKETBOOK, we urge you to go out and buy what you need NOW. You'll soon see prices higher.

New England's Loss

Dr. Murlin's Phenomenal Record at "B. U."

The name of Dr. Lemuel H. Murlin's successor as president of Boston University has not been revealed, but he will be a brave man indeed if he hopes to approach, much less better, the record established in thirteen years by his distinguished predecessor.

The trustees of the University have done well to epitomize the record of the Murlin years in brief but amazing paragraphs:

The student body has increased from 1,425 to 11,001.

The graduates have increased from 6,502 to 12,592.

The faculties have increased from 187 to 490.

The endowment has increased from $2,141,105 to $4,382,695.

The current expense income has increased from $216,275 to $1,369,855.

Gladly the trustees acknowledge Dr. Murlin's splendid leadership. This striking growth did not come to B. U. WHILE he was with the institution, they insists, but BECAUSE he was with it.

President Murlin goes from Boston a month or two hence to be a president of DePauw University, at Greencastle, Indiana. Massechusetts, all New England, will join with the trustees of Boston University in wishing for him and Mrs. Murlin "a long term of personal happiness, the affectionate admiration of hosts of people and a professional success that will attract the attention of the educational world."

A Good Start

Please Multiply It by 40

H. G. Fokker, Dutch builder of airplanes, one of the ablest in the world, has arrived from Holland. It is announced that he will build for this government 100 military planes. That is encouraging, as a first slight indication of good intentions. If the government will increase the number from 100 to 4,000 as a start, and thus establish a fighting flying fleet equal to any other in the world, the people will be well pleased.

Mr. Fokker makes this enlightening comment: "Ten per cent. of the planes built in Europe now are commercial, 90 PER CENT. ARE FIGHTING PLANES. Japan is making her own airplanes, directed by German engineers.

The United States Government ought to bring some of those German engineers, also French and Italian engineers here and keep them all working until we are sure that we have the best as well as the biggest fighting air fleet in the world.

We have work for all those machines in peace time, in letter carrying and in forest work. They would PAY THEIR WAY in peace. And they would PRESERVE PEACE as a permanent warning to other nations against attacking us.

Religious Salesmanship?

Why Not?

The Reverend Mr. McConnell of Columbus, Ohio, objects to "stunt preachers," and to what he calls "stunts, circus or trick churches" in which some new and startling thing is done." He deplores especially "salesmanship in religion."

The Reverend Mr. McConnell's own sermon was "salesmanship." When he said sarcastically, "by their stunts ye shall know them," he was a good salesman, attracting attention to the nobler text.

Salesmanship is respectable and necessary in religion as in everything else. When Beecher sold the mulatto girl at public auction in Plymouth Church, that was salesmanship. He wanted to "sell" the idea that slavery was wrong.

For well organized, spiritual salesmanship, read the first two verses of the ninth chapter of St. Luke:

"Then he called his twelve disciples together and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases.

"And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick."

Their mission was salesmanship of the highest order.

Healing the sick was real super-salesmanship. It convinced and converted the ignorant crowd that only a miracle could impress.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE average man keeps his wife's photograph on his desk, more for moral support than for anything else.

* * *

In an argument with a man, the plain, unflattering truth may be the best logic—but it's always the worst policy.

* * *

A man just hates to get his feet wet mowing the garden hose or shovelling off the snow; but he'll stand in a duck "blind" up to his armpits all day long, and call it "sport."

* * *

The sudden transition from the role of the dazzling sweetheart who stirs a man's pulses to that of the unseen wife who merely stirs his coffee is a shock from which the average bride seldom recovers.

* * *

"This freedom" has robbed man of some of his greatest joys. There is no temptation to kiss the nape of a bobbed-haired neck, and no secret thrill in peering at an ankle that is frankly displayed half-way to the knee.

Helen Rowland.

* * *

In a quarrel, a man never knows whether a woman is going to be more "injured" if he answers back, or more insulted by his silence.

* * *

Being fat may not be fashionable or becoming, but it makes it a lot easier for a woman to be good and noble and "take life seriously."

* * *

Many a beautiful romance has been spoiled by a woman's attempt to cling to the reality, until she choked the last spark of life out of it.

* * *

When a man has been "jilted" by a girl, he may feel awfully cut up and bruised, but there are seldom any "internal injuries" these days, and a week will usually put his heart back in perfect working condition.

* * *

When a man's thoughts begin to wander away from a woman, nothing but a miracle can keep his feet from just naturally following suit.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

LIGHTS that are cruel, and lights that are kind, life has its share of them all; lights glimmer whitely and moths, grown blind, flutter and die and fall. Wings that were meant for the dusk and the dew, under the starry sky, fragile wings that the south winds woo when they murmur their lullaby these have been singed where the hot lights flare, crumpled and broken things, ruined by the pitiless, blazing glare . . . delicate, beautiful wings! Men are but moths when the false lights glow, blinded by sun-bright rays into the cruel heat they go, lost to the dusk's dim ways. Happiness over the goal they seek to each shining light still they adventure on wings too weak, wings that were made for the night. Riches and fame and a lofty place burns the moths that fly hastening into the light's embrace, see how they flutter and die!

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Expression is of more consequence than shape. It will light up features otherwise heavy.

* * *

To give to the human mind a direction which it shall retain for ages is the rare prerogative of a few imperial spirits.

* * *

There is no vice which mankind carries to such wild extremes as that of avarice.

* * *

They that are more fertile in dispute are not always the most able to determine.

* * *

Sound policy is never at variance with substantial justice.

Not Enough to Eat

Helping Hand Editor:

I am the mother of six children, the oldest twelve and the youngest 1½. My husband has been ill the past few months, and my boy just recently was hurt by an automobile. The children need clothing, and sometimes we don't have enough to eat. My rent is in arrears. I am just completely distressed. I am trying to do a little work myself to keep the wolf from the door. Please, some kind readers, come to our assistance.

J. G.

Thanks for Blanket

Helping Hand Editor:

I want to thank Mrs. G. C. W. for the lovely blanket she sent me through your paper and also many thanks to you, for only God knows how much I appreciate this kindness, and now if I only can get a few things for my thirteenth baby that is coming I shall be more than happy.

MRS. C. L.

Never Had Good Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

I am six years old and could never go to school because I have never had clothes. My mamma is very ill. The doctor says she can't live over three months. My father has gone away. My two brothers are at the State home. Will you please send me something to wear? My clothes are ragged and pinned in places to hold them together. I have a place to live where they are very kind, but can't help me to get clothes. Will you please help me a little?

EMMA G.

Girls Need Coats

Helping Hand Editor:

Please try and help me, as I am in great need of clothing for my children, baby one year old and two girls, seven and ten. My husband deserted me and I am trying to work a little, but can't do much, as I am not very strong. Each of the girls needs a coat, and the baby needs some clothing.

MARY B.

Student Asks Help

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a third-year student in college and have worked my way so far. I am now doing night work in order to attend school, but find that I do not have enough time to devote to my studies, and I feel that I will not make my grades this year. I wonder if you could help me get a place to work where I can make my way and at the same time have a little time to devote to my studies. I am experienced in tutoring, have a fairly liberal musical education and can drive a car.

M.

Needs Typewriter

Helping Hand Editor:

Do you know of anyone who has a typewriter they could give me? After a serious operation I am unable to go out much, but I can get lots of work to do at home and help pay the bills which I have incurred during my illness. I surely would be grateful to anyone who can help me.

MRS. F. F. V.

Lost Only Support

Helping Hand Editor:

I recently lost my son, who was the only support of my daughter, fourteen, and me. Now we are all alone without anyone to take care of us. I take in washings, but that just brings in enough to get us something to eat, and then we don't have much to eat at that. We both need shoes, size 5½ and 2; underwear, dresses, coats, etc. My little girl has only a Spring coat. Anything will be appreciated.

MRS. M. S. I.

Thanks for Mrs. P.

Helping Hand Editor:

Please thank Mrs. P. for the things she sent me. They were lovely, and the children were delighted with them.

MRS. R. B.

Tiverton, R. I.

Mother of Six

Helping Hand Editor:

I am the mother of six children. Their father is dead. I am sick and cannot get out to work. My daughter works and gets $15 a week. We just about get our rent paid and a little to eat. I have two boys, thirteen and eleven years. If anyone has a suit or coat for them I would be so thankful. Also any clothes for myself, size 36 or 38.

WIFE'S RIGHTS OVER HUSBAND'S CAREER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

TOWARD Mr. George R. Lunn's candidacy for Governor of New York Mrs. Lunn declared herself to be unalterably opposed. She said:

"I am opposed to my husband continuing longer in public life. Those who differ with me will have to see me if they dare."

She said there were five reasons why he should keep out of office and return to his home and family. They were: George, Raymond, Elizabeth, Mabel and Eleanor Lunn.

This raises the question of how much a wife ought to interfere with her husband's career. There can be no doubt that a man will go much farther, as a rule, when he consults her advice and follows her judgment.

Her feet are usually on the ground. With regard to the family and his private interests she is apt to be a predictionist.

She considers, first of all, the interests of the man himself and her children.

A man may be likely to lose himself in vain and public speculations. He may be prone to sacrifice his own interests to party, to his associates, to an organization or to his country. The woman insists that, first of all, his interests shall centre in his family. Man is an idealist by nature. He is an adventurer and an experimenter. Woman, as a rule, is safer and more sensible.

The faithful wife looks more toward the prosperity and welfare of her husband than she does to any public matters. She is more concerned with red passions than with white ones.

How the Lunns will come out with their difficulties we do not presume to say, but we will lay down the thesis that, as a general thing, it pays a man to follow the advice of his wife.

EFFECT OF ALTITUDE ON TEMPERATURE

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Noted Astronomer and Arbiter on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

"What would be the result on the climate if the earth should make a slightly larger or smaller circle around the sun? Would a few miles increase of distance between the snow-clad mountains and the centre of the earth also plunge this planet into an eternal waste of snow and ice—H. B."

OTHER things remaining unchanged, a slight increase in the earth's distance from the sun would not have a serious influence upon its climate. The intensity of the sun's radiant energy varies inversely as the square of the distance.

If the distance were doubled, then, to be sure, the effect would be very great, for the solar light and heat on the earth would be only one-quarter as great as at present. But if the increase of distance were, say, a million miles, the decrease of solar energy would be only about two per cent.

Far more important are slight changes of elevation on the earth's surface. If you have seen the eternal snow on the Alps or the high Rockies or Sierras, from the warm plains and valleys at their feet, you have had "visual instruction" concerning the effect of difference of altitude on the temperature.

The cause of this difference is not the slight decrease of distance between the mountain tops and the sun, as compared with the distance from the sun of the plains below—as many erroneously suppose—but it arises from the rapid decrease of the density of the atmosphere with elevation above sea level.

On high mountains there prevails a perpetual "ice age," and glaciers of greater or less extent descend the flanks of all such mountains, reproducing in some respects, and on a small scale, the phenomena that characterized the great glacial period when whole continents were ice-covered, as Greenland and Antarctica are yet today.

Climatic temperature is the result of a general warming of the atmosphere, which acts like a blanket for the earth, retaining the heat produced by transformation of the sun's rays, which are not "hot" in themselves, but are capable of producing heat by exciting increased vibration of the molecules of all material substances upon which they impinge. The air has the property of allowing the solar radiation to pass through without retaining it in the form of heat. The sun's rays thus reach the soil and rocks of the earth, where they are absorbed.

The earth, having thus been warmed, itself radiates the heat that it has acquired back into the atmosphere. But these "heat rays" from the earth, unlike the brilliant radiation of the sun, are "obscure," and of relatively long wave-length, and they are largely arrested in their passage upward through the atmosphere, which thus becomes heated from the earth, and in turn keeps the earth warm, somewhat as our clothing retains heat given off from our bodies, and thereby guards us in cold weather from the chilling effect of the relatively frigid atmosphere around us.

The situation is graphically shown in our little diagram. The increasing distance between the circles representing the shell of air around the globe indicates the rapid decrease of the atmospheric density with increase of elevation. The high plains and the mountain tops are immersed in air that is rare compared with that near sea-level. This is as if they wore thinner garments.

Although they are a few miles nearer the sun than is the surface at sea-level, yet this difference is of no consequence in comparison with the 93,000,000 miles that separate the earth from the sun; but the density of the air at high mountain levels is only half as great as at sea-level, and its power of absorbing and retaining heat is so reduced that the mountains become chilled to such a degree that the moisture in the atmosphere about them condenses into stances upon which they impinge. The air has the property of allow- melts.

ONCE-OVERS

SILENCE CAN BE MORE CONSOLING THAN WORDS OF SYMPATHY

It is a big mistake to try all the time to be considered "entertaining."

No person is more tiresome than the one who cannot keep still a minute.

Incessant talker, interesting, you admit, but a regular bore just the same.

There are times when every person desires silence more than anything.

To be appreciated as a real friend, you should remember that there are conditions under which the less talking you do the better you meet the requirements of the one with whom you are associating.

When you go to see a bereaved friend, do not say too much.

Often your sympathy expressed in words adds to the suffering.

More can be expressed in a warm handshake or in the silence you maintain.

Silence is often much more consoling than any words you could utter.

Light, airy talk is not only out of place, but an actual heart thrust to a person in sorrow.

Too many have an idea that they must appear cheerful when with those experiencing great sorrow, but that is also a mistake.

Control yourself and your feelings so that you can impart courage without any sort of thing which is obtrusive to those who are in trouble.
